Following the 1972 building workers' strike, 24 of the pickets were accused of violence, and charged with 'conspiracy' using an Act from 1875! The real 'conspiracy' was between the Tory government and the building employers.

We are calling for a national open public inquiry into the trial of the pickets and the jailing of some of these innocent men.

This is an all ticket event, which is part of a rolling campaign to clear the names of the 24 pickets. All proceeds will go to the campaign. The event will be the subject of a forthcoming documentary.
